Basic Accounting Terms

Sales / Revenue / Turnover [Topline Earnings]

Total Income

Cost of Sales

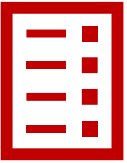

Total Expenses

Net Profit [Bottomline Earnings]

Balance Statement

Also known as Statement of Financial Position

Balance Sheet is a snapshot at a point in time. On the top half you have the company's assets and on the bottom half its liabilities and Shareholders' Equity (or Net Worth). The assets and liabilities are typically listed in order of liquidity and separated between current and non-current.

Income Statement

Also known as Profit or Loss Statement (Profit & Loss), Statement of Comprehensive Income

The income statement covers a period of time, such as a quarter or year. It illustrates the profitability of the company from an accounting (accrual and matching) perspective. It starts with the revenue line and after deducting expenses derives net income.

Cash flow Statement

This statement sorts your cash transactions by activity type

The cash flow statement look at the cash position of the company . It answers it answers the questions ; How much of the organisation's cash goes to its creditors and shareholders? Does it keep enough for its own investment and growth? has 3 components cash from operations, cash used in investing, and cash from financing. It "undoes" all of the accounting principles and shows the cash flows of the business.
